

Writing Coach Program

Writing Coach Service is now offered by Yu's Elite Education.

The NEED: Many students simply aren't writing routinely, and many more students simply aren't taking a strategic approach to make their writing better. Consequently, while a student's school performance may be exceptional in math and science, little growth is seen in writing as a result of little attention given to the craft. All too often student writers have the attitude of "one and done." They simply want to draft something once, and move on. The Writing Coach service NOW offered by Yu's Elite Education addresses this need.

The SERVICE: Yu's Elite Education NOW introduces "The Writing Coach" - a service designed to get scholars writing, provide them with feedback on their work, and instill in them the practice of revision, fostering a stronger, more capable writer. Students who enroll in this program will receive personal writing instruction from a certified, writing educator.

How it works:

- Each month a writing assignment, an exemplar, and rubric or checklist is posted.
- Students may complete the assignment at any time within the first 10 days of its posting.
- Writing must be done in Google Docs and shared with the student's coach.
- Within 3 days, the coach will provide evaluative feedback and suggestions for revision.
- An ongoing dialogue between the teacher and scholar will continue throughout the month as your student revises their work, submits it, and receives new feedback. Ultimately, this back and forth will provide each student individualized, targeted, specific writing instruction.

The writing coach service NOW offered by Yu's Elite Education will foster the practice of revision. Students will revisit a draft multiple times to improve upon it, following their coach's direction. If students want to be good writers, then they must develop the habits of published authors- they must write, and revise, revise, revise, making their original draft better.
